Fair Work Act

National Employment Standards became effective 1st January, 2010. Employers should consider relevant Modern Awards applicable to their employees, based on industry lines and occupational groups. "Fair Work Information Statements", available from the Fair Work Australia website, need to be provided to all new employees from 1st January, 2010.

Please contact us for referral to an Industrial Relations lawyer should you require any assistance in regard to the implementation, or maintenance, of requirements for the Fair Work Act.

This is general information only. Specific personal advice should be sought prior to action being taken.
